

Important Disclaimer

The statements made on this website have not been evaluated by the FDA, Health Canada or the Public Health Agency of Canada. The use of, the sale of, and the purchase of any products offered by Sonic Life LLC, are not intended for any medical purposes what-so-ever. These products and all products sold by Sonic Life LLC are not intended to diagnose, treat, cure or prevent any disease in man or other animals, and are strictly for exercise purposes only. Any benefits listed on this web site are based on independent studies which reference over 50 years of research into whole body vibration exercise and training, and which would also be obtainable through other forms of physical exercise. The material provided herein is intended for educational and informational purposes only. TurboSonic USA and Sonic Life LLC are not engaged in rendering any medical service or advice, and the information provided is not a substitute for a professional medical opinion. If you have a medical problem, please contact your doctor or a qualified health professional.